What's the take on Gender and Saskatchewan Health?

Prairie Women's Health Centre of Excellence (PWHCE) invites Saskatoon community members to a CIHR Café Scientifique. The topic for this Café is health through a gender lens in Saskatchewan. For over 15 years, PWHCE has been working with Saskatchewan women to improve and address health issues.

We have invited three speakers to discuss different issues related to women's health. Diane Martz will be speaking on a senior population in rural women's health. Alex Wilson will be speaking about Aboriginal women's health, identity and wellness in Saskatchewan and Margaret Haworth-Brockman will talk about PWHCE's community research activities in Saskatchewan. PWHCE invites all community members to listen to the three distinguished speakers and join the discussion on the issues. Admission is free and refreshments will be provided.
